We started using Construction Credit & Finance Group LLC earlier this year after getting their information from an AED webinar. We had several accounts which were unresponsive to our demands for payment, so we submitted the relevant information over to CCFG and let them go to work.

I was impressed with how quickly they were able to get each of these accounts to the table and ready to settle. They work in a professional manner and are willing to adapt their tactics to the Dealer's direction. We had a good customer who just was not good with paperwork that we could not get to settle up on aged invoices. I requested a softer approach to the collection process for this account, and we were able to get the issue resolved while still retaining the customer.

I would recommend CCFG to any Dealer who needs the services of a responsive, professional collection agency.
